

Did I Lead You On Tse Chung Alan

did i lead you on or was it just some silly sleep-walking half-baked infatuation going astray that painted the cold night black and blue when birds forgot the sky wings clipped freesia forgot to bloom fragrance turned into flames when my knees got weak this late in my life
the faceless owl whistling a nameless tune
did I lead you on
or was it just a stray cat whining and weeping in a forgotten alley
missing home
 'cos alleys are better forgotten home for missing
alone
when stars stopped telling tales to a moon that never belonged when tinkerbelle stopped sprinkling pixie dust 'cos peter was gone
when the priest stopped hearing confessions From a sinner who'd never repent still the night
still the cold still i wonder
did i lead you on
if I did i was wrong...
